Sales and Sales Management in Financial Services: A Practitioner’s Guide to Channel Innovation

CONTENTS

Introduction

Chapter 1 Branches – the basics
Location selection
Macro criteria
Micro criteria
Macro scorecard
Examples
Comments
Micro scorecard
Premises
Results to be expected

Chapter 2 Branch agents – ‘near sourcing’ to local entrepreneurs
Definition
Different concepts
Benefits
Key benefits to banks
Benefits to agents
Consumer benefits
Control
Start-up support
Overview
New versus existing locations
Interest-free loan
Promotional budget
Rental subsidy
Training
Salary
Financial implications
Location
Premises
Size
Appearance
Layout
Products
Services
IT support
Organisation
Staging the introduction
Organisational level of agents
Integration and reporting
Support functions
Recruitment
Training
Risk management
Control and audit
Legal / regulatory Contract
Overview
Duties and authorised activities
Exclusions
Remuneration
Scope of contract
Commission
General commission design
Commission structure
Key questions
Knock-out criteria
Sample commission structure
Financials
Comparisons
Implementation
Summary
Case study 1: Volksbank’s Romanian branch agent (branch franchise) set-up
Case study 2: Branch franchising and kiosk combination by ING
Case study 3: Community banking, using the agent banking model in Australia

Chapter 3  Sales agents – single-minded focus on acquisition efficiencies
Overview
Definition
Different concepts
Benefits
Case study 4: Limited promotional sales agent test
Case study 5: Ongoing national sales agent test
Products
Number of products
Types of products
Additional products
Product sales process
Services
IT support
Other support
Control, risk management, audit
Organisation
Roles and responsibilities
Career progression
Training
Start-up training
Ongoing training
Recruiting and dismissals
Recruiting process
Success factors
Dismissals
Contract
Remuneration
Starting up the commission system
Commission structures
Sales agent commissions
Team leader / senior leader commissions
Financials
Implementation
Summary
Appendix A – Sample prospect contact rules for sales agents
Chapter 4  Intermediary channels: maximising third-party relationships
Introduction
Basic principles
Case study 6: Example 1 – North America
Case study 7: Example 2 – Europe
Contracts – overview
Third-party types
Financial intermediaries
Retailers – point-of-sale (POS) sales finance
Other
Benefits
Benefits to partners
Watch-outs
Case study 8: Operational cost problems
Structures
Joint ventures
Revenue / cost / profit share
Straight commission system
Compensation
New sales versus portfolio
Commission plus incentives
Floor price approach
Other support
USPs
USPs for end-customers
USPs for intermediaries
Additional USP for both
Physical and process designs
Physical set-ups and integration
Retail POS finance
Process design
Sales generation
Direct sourcing
Broker sourcing
Retailer sourcing
Funds disbursement options
Loan repayment options
Customer ownership
Communicating through intermediaries
Partner selection
IT requirements

Chapter 5  Remote electronic channels: the limits of cost efficiency
Traditional electronic channels
Overview
Main types, roles and evolution
Telephone banking
Internet banking
ATMs
Kiosks
Challenges
Addressing the challenges
New types of electronic channels
Mobile banking
New internet developments
Virtual money
Virtual banking
Peer-to-peer banking
Social media-based channels

Chapter 6  Buying, managing and controlling your channels
Introduction
Mergers and acquisitions – buying your channels
Due diligence checklist
Overall business strategy fit
Marketing and sales review
Customer base
Prospect base
Intermediary contacts
Brand strength
Marketing infrastructure
Distribution and service channels
Credit risk management / lending products portfolio
Savings and deposits products portfolio
Personnel
Information technology, other
Customer relationship management – managing your channels
Definition
Key issues
Benefits
Alignments needed
Architecture
Case study 9: How things can go wrong with CRM implementation
Service quality – controlling your channels
Appendix A – M&A evaluation guidelines summary – a sales / marketing perspective
Reason
Components to review
Values to be assigned
Appendix B – CRM architecture – summary of basic business requirements
Marketing data mart
Contact management / sales force automation
Marketing planning
Appendix C – Service standards definition and measurement – sample outline for branches
Basic deliverables
SQ dimensions
Methods of measurement
Service standards (benchmarks, expectations)
Appendix D – Service standards definition and measurement – sample outline for call centres
Basic deliverables
SQ dimensions
Methods of measurement
Service standards (benchmarks, expectations)

LIST OF TABLES AND FIGURES

Table 1.1: Branch break-even and payback benchmarks
Table 2.1: Indicative cost models
Table 3.1: Portfolio growth
Table 3.2: Portfolio growth without sales agents
Table 3.3: Bank sales network dynamics
Table 3.4: Sales schedule for new sales agents
Table 4.1: POS sales finance partner selection and approach checklist
Table 4.2: Additional POS sales finance partner selection checklist
Table 4.3: Sales expectations

Figure 3.1: Organisational structure – integrating sales agents and their managers
Figure 3.2: Sales agent recruitment process
Figure 4.1: Personal loan sales and operations process design – retail store and direct sourced
Figure 5.1: People completely or somewhat trusting forms of advertising (%)